

FLOOD THREATENS BIG DAMAGE IN WISCONSIN

Small Buildings Swept Away When Black River Rises to Great Height

(By Associated Press.)
GREENWICH, Wis., June 3.—With the Black River already at its greatest flood height and rising fast, this town and others are in great danger. The waters have torn out the municipal light and power company's dam and have swept away 20 feet of reinforced concrete levee. Small buildings are being whirled down the stream. One steel bridge has given away and others are threatened. Scores of families have been driven from their homes and have sought shelter in the higher places. At Henlock, four miles north of here, the sawmill and roller mills of the W. O. Witte Lumber company, have been torn down by the bursting of a dam and a steel bridge has been wrecked. O. Witte Lumber company has been turned into rivers and the water still is rising fast. At Greenfield, three miles north of here, four feet of water is swirling through the streets, and others are filled, sidewalks carried away and small buildings demolished. The damage will reach many thousands of dollars.

Vessels Have Difficulty Making Headway Against Gale
SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—No statement was apparent this morning in the storm which has swept the entire coast for the last forty-eight hours. More than twenty-five northbound vessels from this port were having difficulty in making headway against the northwesterly gale, which at times reached a velocity of more than thirty miles an hour. Radio messages from several vessels said their passengers were suffering all the discomforts of a winter hurricane. Life-saving stations between San Francisco and Puget Sound have been instructed to keep a sharp lookout for any craft that might become disabled.

The exercises were conducted by the board of education in the recreation room of the factory. A large number of educators were present, among them John H. Elder, state commissioner of education, and Dr. William H. Max, superintendent of the city school system. Miss Anna Morgan was among the forty girls named in years from have been in the country less than two years, others above five. SHERIFF TO KEEP PEACE NEAR ROCKEFELLER HOME

Plans to Stop Big Strike Demonstration in Tarrytown on Saturday
TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 3.—Reverend efforts on the part of the local police department and the officers of Sheriff Doyle of West Chester county, to maintain the peace of this village, marked the close today of the first of the right being waged by Alexander Berkman and others for the right to hold public meetings in protest of the policy pursued by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., with reference to the Colorado mine strike.

White Berkman was in Brooklyn and army which he declares will invade Tarrytown tomorrow to hold a demonstration. Sheriff Doyle was making a force capable of handling a crowd of 200 persons and, if possible, prevent a recurrence of last Saturday's clash when thirteen Industrial Workers of the World members were arrested. In an announcement made public today Judge Morehouse declared that Berkman would not be permitted to hold a meeting tomorrow when the twelve prisoners are brought before the court for arraignment. One of the original thirteen deserted the cause of free speech yesterday and was released under a suspended sentence of six months in the penitentiary. It is expected that an effort will be made tomorrow to have the cause of the twelve prisoners considered by the grand jury.

The Rev. R. E. Cato, of the Methodist church, whose invitation to Berkman to debate with him on the Rockefeller issue was withdrawn at the request of other ministers of the village, has announced that he has accepted Berkman's proposal to hold the debate in the near future in New York.

How to Beautify the Hair

A Simple and Inexpensive Home Method
The hair is like a flower—a little care and proper nourishment does wonders. Just as a plant without air and water withers and dies, so will the hair so if not given proper nourishment. The scalp must be perfectly healthy and free from dandruff, as the scalp is to the hair what good soil is to plants and flowers.
If your hair is not pretty, if it is losing its color, too dry, matted, falling out, or if the scalp itches and burns, you can overcome all of these conditions by using Parian Sage, which supplies every hair need. It soaks right in to the hair roots, stimulating them, and furnishing the nourishment that is needed for the hair to grow not only long and heavy, but fluffy, soft, lustrous and gloriously radiant.
You can get a bottle of this inexpensive, yet delightful and helpful hair tonic from Jacobs' 11 Stores, or at drug and toilet counters everywhere. Improvement begins with the very first application. Besides stopping the scalp irritation it removes every bit of dandruff. The use of this unequalled hair tonic will surely give your hair new life and beauty.—(Adv.)

McADOO COMMENDED IN SPEECH BY T. S. FELDER

Secretary Upheld in Order Segregating White and Negro Employees

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
ATLANTA, Ga., June 5.—Thomas S. Felder, candidate for the short term in the United States senate yesterday spoke here in defense of Secretary McAdoo's order segregating the white and negro employees of the treasury department.

Dr. Felder said:
For the first time in more than fifty years a southern man sits in the White House. Southern men, as cabinet officers, are his closest counselors. In both houses of the national congress southern men occupy positions of prominence and power. The south is about to regain the proud prestige which it lost before the war between the states. Left bleeding, bankrupt and prostrate at the close of that mighty conflict, all industry paralyzed, her fertile fields given up in weeds, an immense horde of ignorant negroes only a few generations removed from the savage jungles of Africa, made free, their political equality protected by federal bayonets; the government of the south in the hands of unscrupulous scoundrels from the north which followed the army of occupation; the credit of our state destroyed and her fair name besmirched; all participation in national affairs denied; the genius, constancy and devotion of the southern white man finally triumphed. The domination of the negro and carpet bagger was overthrown and control of state government regained. Our lands were rehabilitated, our burned cities, homes and school houses were rebuilt. Industry was revived; renewed participation in the national government was secured; until now, in the year 1914, the south is back again in saddle.

THE SOUTH'S RECORD.
In glory in the record of our people, and clinging to the traditions of the old south and the principles for which our fathers fought, the south and its two brothers, stand in the uniform of the Confederate soldier, followed by their great captain to an unshaken defeat and contributed their share to the nation's achievements of the army of the north. In 1863 the body of our fathers' brother was slain in the battle of Gettysburg. In 1865 the body of our fathers' brother was slain in the battle of Appomattox. I would love and honor the flag of our supreme republic. I should always remember that heritage of glory which my father left me in the allegiance to the "Conquered Banner."

The white people of the south represent the white people of the whole union. Our white population is more than 2 per cent foreign, whereas in the north and west the percentage ranges from 35 to 45 per cent. Our blood is unadulterated and undiluted. The southern white man, that our coming country is a white man's country to be governed by white men and white men only, and I want to say here and now, that if elected to the United States senate I will oppose to the utmost of my power, in committee, on the floor of the senate and elsewhere the appointment of a negro to any public office of responsibility or power, regardless of geographical location.

While practically all of the negroes of this country are inherently and functionally unfit to exercise the franchise or to exercise the power of government, the exclusion from the office of even the most intelligent negro is with me a racial question and not open to argument. Since the close of the civil war, Washington City has been considered the negro's "paradise on earth." In the streets of Washington negro men sit side by side with white women. In all of the great departments of our government white employees are required to work side by side with negro employees and in many other ways are forced into intimate association with them.

ITPHOLDS MADDO.
This condition permits no distinction between the white and negro employees of the government has existed since 1865. Until Secretary McAdoo, a southern man, born in this old commonwealth of Georgia, recently issued a sweeping order for the segregation of the races in the treasury department. For this action he has been bitterly assailed by many leading journals of the north and east. I embrace this opportunity to promise the people of Georgia that if I am elected United States senator, I shall always be ready, willing to hold up the banner of our fearless secretary and shall at all times exert my strongest efforts to place the negro who resides in the nation's capital on the same plane with his brother in Georgia.

Couple Keeps Wedding Secret Nearly a Year And Sets New Record

DR. AND MRS. L. R. BEECH.

Friends Surprised With News That Miss Celeste Stone Became Wife of Dr. L. R. Beech in Chattanooga August 18, 1913

A record for keeping a wedding secret has been set by Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Beech. Married last August in Chattanooga, they have only just announced it, and the announcement has come as a great surprise to all their friends in Atlanta.

Mrs. Beech was Miss Celeste Stone, who has lived in Atlanta for several years, coming here from Kentucky. Dr. Beech is a well-known young Atlanta physician.

The young people had known each other for some time August 18, 1913, they left Atlanta on the same train, Dr. Beech by his various, Mississippi, and Miss Stone to spend several weeks at her old home in Kentucky.

By the time the train reached Chattanooga they had reached a decision. They missed one train and were married. Then they separated for their vacations and did not meet again until their return to Atlanta later in the fall.

It was decided to keep the wedding a secret until Dr. Beech had finished his internship at the Atlanta hospital. This was done. Not a soul but the principals knew of the wedding until June 1, when Dr. Beech concluded his term and announced that Dr. and Mrs. Beech will be at home to their friends in the future at 47 Drewry street.

Jones, who is thirty years of age, met with the accident which necessitated amputation of both arms while he was working on a steel structure. Afterward he became an omnivorous reader and his intention is to make use of shorthand in the rough drafting of literary articles.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

JOHN R. COOPER SEESKS

Following the published reports that both Governor John M. Slaton and Thomas S. Felzer had declined the invitation of Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick to meet him in the city, John R. Cooper, also candidate for the short term United States senate, has written the congressman challenging him for a series of speeches on the issues of the campaign.

Mr. Cooper's letter follows:

Hon. Thomas W. Hardwick, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: I see by the papers that you have expressed a willingness to meet your opponents in person to discuss the issues of the campaign before the people. In your letter you refer to me and state that "it would be impracticable for all five of the candidates to participate in the discussion without lengthening it too much," giving as a reason why you did not extend to me a similar invitation. I notice by the papers that the Hon. Thomas S. Felzer has declined to accept your invitation, and I am pretty sure Hon. John M. Slaton will decline also, because he has already put himself on record that he will not meet any of his opponents on the stump.

I believe, like you, that the people of Georgia are entitled to see and hear all of the candidates running for this great office speak from the same platform so that they can intelligently make up their minds who is the best man for the race. So I have decided, after due consideration, to respond to your invitation to meet me on the stump and discuss the issues of the campaign before the people of Georgia. If you accept my invitation, let me know and we will arrange a series of joint debates.

With my best personal regards, I am,

Yours very truly,

JOHN R. COOPER.

WANTED: A HOUSE LEADER, SAY MEMBERS OF LOWER ASSEMBLY.

Members of the lower assembly are already beginning to speculate on the possibility of the house developing a leader at the approaching session of the legislature, or whether the body will continue along the beaten path of last session without the sign of a floor chief.

Prospective of whether or not a leader does develop, the undeniable fact remains that last session's leadership house accomplished more business than any preceding legislature in the past ten years. There were near leaders and many of them, but at no time did a member reach the point of complete mastery. The house appeared to be perfectly satisfied to rock along with cut a ruler and the fact that the voyage of fifty days was made without striking a rock is nothing short of remarkable.

The material was there all right without the remotest shadow of doubt but leadership didn't appear necessary, which possibly is the reason all were content to go it alone, which was rather smooth sailing so going down in matters legislative.

Perhaps at the first session of the 1914-15 general assembly a leader will develop and it is not amiss to hazard a guess that he will be from among such men as Herman Swift, of Muscogee; Ed Wohlwend, his colleague Crawford Whaley, of J. E. Sheppard of Bunyon; Henry J. Fulbright, of Burke; Wallace Miller, of Bibb; Gerald M. Jones, of Coweta; Barry Wright, of Floyd; and R. N. Hardman, of Jefferson.

FOUR OUT FOR HOUSE IN NEWTON COUNTY.

COVINGTON, Ga., June 5.—At the present writing four aspirants are out for a seat in the house of representatives from Newton county.

These within the next week or two: A. L. Lloyd, now representing Newton in the lower assembly, is a candidate for re-election a year hence. Those who have announced to oppose him are far as R. W. Campbell, F. D. Ballard and J. C. Morgan.

The passage of the new tax equalization law has been injected into the campaign as an issue and Newton county is sure to show its approval or disapproval at the approaching primary.

C. R. MCCRODY OUT FOR SEATE IN SENATE.

C. R. McCrody, member of the present house from Schley, has made formal announcement for the state senate from the Thirteenth district.

Mr. McCrody is the author of the resolution calling for an investigation into the prices of school books sold Georgia children as compared with prices elsewhere, and a bill authorizing the state to print a certain number of texts as an experiment and sell them to the children at cost.

His house record on these two important matters will be the platform of Mr. McCrody, who has already become immensely popular in his section through his efforts to secure cheaper school books for the school children of Georgia.

WHITFIELD SURVEYOR READY TO QUIT HIS JOB.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., June 5.—The man who possesses the laudable ambition to serve as surveyor of Whitfield county will not meet with any opposition from County Surveyor Worley, who, in registering for the primary, has posted the following statement:

"The person who will buy my surveying instruments, a lot of price, can have the job of surveyor."

Mr. Worley was, two years ago, honored with the office of county surveyor, his friends thinking enough of him to give him the office without opposition. Now, with the heat of summer in full swing, he has a little dubious about undertaking a campaign for the job, but he has a little dubious about purchasing his surveyor's paraphernalia.

JOHN D. WALKER, OF SPARTA, OUT FOR STATE SENATE.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SPARTA, Ga., June 5.—John D. Walker, banker and capitalist, has announced his candidacy for the state senate from the twelfth district and so far has no opposition for the place that will be left vacant upon the retirement of Judge John T. Allen, of Milledgeville.

Mr. Walker is known throughout Georgia as a conservative, far-seeing and aggressive business man who has accumulated a considerable reputation as a successful banker. He is distinctly a man of affairs and is recognized by those who know him. Reports from his section of the state say that his candidacy has met with wide approval and that there is little probability of his having opposition.

CONGRESSMAN J. E. WALKER GO OFFER FOR RE-ELECTION.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

It was learned positively in Atlanta Friday that Congressman J. Randall Walker, of the Eleventh district, would be a candidate for re-election and will issue his formal announcement some time next week. Pending legislation has kept him in Washington and he has been unable, thus far, to conduct an active personal campaign in his district.

Congressman Walker has not been in the heat of health for some time and it was rumored in some quarters that, coupled with his desire to resume his law practice, would result in his retiring at the expiration of his present term. He is opposed so far, by J. A. Henderson, of Ocala.

STARK AND ALLEN OFFERED FOR HOUSE IN JACKSON.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COMMERCIAL, Ga., June 5.—State Senator W. Stark, of Commerce, representative of the Thirty-third district, has announced for the house from Jackson county in opposition to the present incumbent, Dr. L. C. Allen, of Hoschton.

Both of the candidates were sent to the general assembly a year ago as members of the senate and house respectively. They are conducting an active campaign for a seat in the lower assembly.

BORDAN LEE WILL SPEAK AT CEDARTOWN.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., June 5.—On Friday, July 17, a good roads rally and barbecue will be held at Cedar town under the auspices of the local County Good Roads association and the Folk county commissioners. A large delegation of other counties will attend. Congressman Gordon Lee will come from Washington to be present, and will deliver an address.

Let Us Have Justice

"I hate, I despise your feasts---

"Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs; for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.

"But let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream."

---Amos 5: 21-23-24.

A hotel room.

A man dead by his own hand.

Without friends in the city, he was drinking.

Beneath the windows of another hotel.

A huddled heap—a spreading stain upon the sidewalk. He, too, is dead; crushed by his fall.

He had been drinking.

THESE TWO MEN HAVE THIS WEEK DIED ON THE ALTAR OF ALCOHOL AND GREED IN ATLANTA.

Their search for happiness here is over. Their bodies cry out for justice for those who live.

Who next?

This quiet crowd moving through our city's streets is also in search of happiness. Policemen are at the column's head, where walks a man bearing the American flag. They are strikers.

Look to the East! There on the city's edge, three smokestacks tower above massive buildings; a great wall surrounds them; glass and barbed wire run along its top. Above it one sees a gaunt black bridge; over it goes a group of children as the warning whistle blows; a little girl not over twelve, her pink dress fluttering against the grime, runs through a forbidding door to work.

She and they should be at play.

Just over the way are those who neither work nor play: they sleep in Oakland Cemetery.

Graves of the living are between it and the mill—dreary, drab, monotonously the same, row after row of houses.

Behind them, sanitary conditions which are a menace to the city's health.

Laborers live here.

They have a grievance; underlying it are many complaints.

They struck.

They say, "The Fulton Bag & Cotton Mill discharged 78 of us for joining the Union."

This the mill owners deny. But why do they refuse to have an impartial board investigate and dispose of these complaints?

The strikers are willing.

YESTERDAY, MARSHALS OF OUR COURTS WERE PUTTING HOUSEHOLD GOODS INTO THE STREETS; THE STRIKERS MUST MOVE ON; THE MILLS MUST HAVE THEIR HOUSES. GOD PITY AND PROTECT THEM AND THEIR KIND!

With regard to the recent horrors in the mines of Colorado, Current Opinion says, "This, THE NEW YORK TIMES THINKS, is the lesson the coal operators in Colorado are learning. The employers, it says, are right in their stand for the 'open shop'; but in an important sense, they, too, as well as the unions, have stood for the 'closed shop'; closed against the unions. While they have employed union men, they have discouraged the unions and refused to hear the union's representatives."

"THE TIMES points to the plan under which 7,566 grievances have been settled in New York City in the garment industries since the Protocol of Peace' was signed in March, 1911, by which the union was recognized, but by which the right of men to contract individually as well as collectively was also recognized."

Our age calls for justice to all.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT REPORTS upon conditions in cotton mills states that a man, having a wife and three children of 10 to 4, must earn $600.74 a year to maintain a fair standard of living. This standard does not allow savings to meet the contingency of any unusual event, such as lack of employment, or an accident to the father. It makes no provision for old age.

The report states that the minimum for such a family is $408.26. Beneath this for such a family is actual suffering.

Think of these figures! What does your family require?

The Fulton Bag & Cotton Mill states that its average wage is $8.00 per week. If this be true, among 1,400 employees, what of those who receive less than the average, which, providing the worker loses not a week of the 52, must amount to $416.00 per annum, providing that it is not reduced by any fines or penalties?

Mark you—the Government's figures are for a family consisting of a father and mother and three little children of 4 to 10. As these grow their demands must increase.

Think! And you will see that the presence of children, who should be in school and at play, working their lives away in mills, is not wholly due to shiftless fathers who will not work, but to the grave necessity for supporting the family life—THE LACK OF A LIVING WAGE.

THERE ARE NO PROBLEMS IN THE GRAVEYARD OVER WHICH THE THREE STACKS BELCH THEIR SMOKE, BUT THERE ARE QUESTIONS BENEATH THEIR MOVING SHADOWS WHICH GOD WILL HAVE YOU ANSWER.

The liquor problem, the question of brothels, the handling of prisoners and the living wage are all but part of the same great question. The spirit of God is abroad in the world.

And men are crying for justice.

In the end they will have it.

ROBBER IN DINING CAR MEETS WARM RECEPTION

A series of petty thefts from dining cars parked in the Central of Georgia yards in Macon, Ga., were interrupted early last week when a train conductor discovered the thief re-hatched, fled from the train and was chased by a posse of twenty-five miles an hour. The thief, who was identified as the manager of the Central of Georgia dining cars, was charged with the thefts, which he had been committing for several weeks in the yards.

Thursday night he placed a bet with Frank Ellis, colored, on board a dining car. The bet was for $100 that he could steal $100 from the dining car by early Friday morning. The thief was caught by a posse of twenty-five miles an hour and taken to the Port McPherson Jail and held on to No. 25 at the Terminal station.

As soon as the car got under way, the thief was taken to the dining car and the kitchen lock. He rushed $100 to the rear of the dining car and was caught by the entering the kitchen.

The thief was then taken to the black board to the ground and the moving car. He is believed to have been a member of the Central of Georgia police commission to the thief.

ASTROLOGER

The stars incline, but do not compel.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1914.

The morning of this day is not an auspicious time for business, astrologers declare, but, later, the stars are friendly. In the morning Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Mercury are all adverse; in the afternoon and evening Venus and Neptune are friendly.

Business projects should be conducted in a conservative manner. The aspect is most unfortunate for all enterprises that involve the element of risk. Investment and speculation should be shunned under this configuration.

It is an unfortunate time to deal with bankers and stock brokers. Treasurers and cashiers, also, are subject to an ill omen.

Losses through misplaced confidence, dishonesty and wrong judgment are common when Jupiter is evilly disposed. There is an augury of money scandals in high places. Revelations concerning big financial schemes will be made before the autumn.

The aspect is not a fortunate one for surgical operations. Dentistry, also, is under an unlucky ray.

Mercury gives warning against unwise letter-writing. Scandals in which correspondence reveals secrets are foreboded. Many divorces are indicated for the autumn.

There is an unfavorable augury for summer romances, which may bring misadvised persons to grief. The stars indicate a peculiar tendency toward romance among persons who are not young.

Venus is in aspect this evening, which is most encouraging for all social affairs. Receptions, dinners and dances are in high places. Revelations concerning big financial schemes will be made before the autumn.

Profit and gain through whatever brings pleasure to the public are promised this evening. Musicians, restaurant keepers and hotel proprietors should benefit particularly.

Nurses are especially fortunate while this configuration lasts. They should gain recognition and money.

Scarcity of water and a prevalence of high winds are foretold for certain parts of England and the United Kingdom. Tourists may find unpleasant conditions for motoring.

Persons whose birthdate it is to have either an unlucky omen. Warning against litigation and speculation is given by the stars. Loss of money is foreboded.

Children born on this day are likely to be extremely self-willed and fond of personal care. They may be reckless in spending money, and may often face poverty unless they are trained to frugal habits.

What Anne
Rittenhouse Says

Figured Coats of Cotton Fabrics Worn Over Afternoon Gowns in the Country.

NEW YORK.—The last two seasons have developed many loose coats which have gradually drifted into capes.

There is a strong rivalry now between the two shapes. The more a coat looks like a cape, the more fashionable it is. The shoulders bear the burden of all the top garments, for everything is cut to swing loose from the back of the neck.

So many women dislike capes that the short full coat is in no danger of being ousted. The sketch shows a combination of coat and cape that has met with most approval because it has the feature of the cape, it is the opinion of the woman who wears it, but it has been used for gowns, or tunics over white gowns, or short turtle-tail jackets over white taffeta skirts, but its use as a wrap is admirable.

Cape Coats For Afternoon.
The lining of the cape which is sketched, is thin white silk, but women who like brilliant colors will find this kind of wrap an admirable vehicle for a ray of color. Red, tango brown, bright pink, Chinese blue, are some of the shades of solid colors that look well in these full summer wraps.

Those who like plaids and stripes can use them, but with less artistic effect. Where the latter materials and designs are best is in the long capes of dark blue and black cloth which have become so very fashionable for outdoor wear.

While these dark coats are very fashionable, women do not care to wear them over a thin gown for a wedding or a garden party or a drive in the late afternoon. They hide the frock for one thing, and for another, they are too warm unless the afternoon is unusually chilly.

These cape coats of figured cotton fabrics give one an air of mystery and lend just enough warmth. They are loose enough not to crush the frock, and sufficiently open to show more of the thin frock beneath.

As a rule, one adopts with them the kind of garden hat that goes with floral fabrics. The one in the sketch is of pale blue covered with blue chiffon and trimmed with blue velvet ribbon and bunches of detached violets in deep purple. This hat, as you see, droops about the face in the approved mid-Victorian manner.

Will Garden Hats Come In?
It is interesting to speculate on mid-Victorian fashions. They are absent. The fashion makers may retreat, and the American women may block the adventure into the nineteenth century, but at the present moment one sees many flying straws that show the direction from which the wind blows.

We have already accepted the ruffled skirt and now we see a strong return to garden hats with wide flapping brims and long streamers of velvet ribbon in back.

Players Fraternity Seeks to Enlist Players of the Southern League

LITTLE PAL---WELL, HOW COULD HE KNOW SHE WAS MILITANT?

--BY LEO

THE SPOTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

PLANNING A VACATION.
Look here, Diogenes, hike if you will
Off to the mountain or off to the sea;
Toland or lowland or valley or hill.
Any old spot you may hanker to be;
But it to Newport, White Sulphur, Coney,
Hot Springs or Canada, Horn Springs or Tate,
Summer resorts that are ripping or phoney,
Eastward or northward or here in the state;
Pack up your grip for a rollicking trip,
Off with a dash and a smash and a rip,
Put up your duds for a laund with the bloods,
Ridding or swimming or soaking the suds--

BUT
If you don't mind when starting,
Old Duh,
Kindly leave me behind with a lease
On your Tub.

Kindly leave me your tub in the shade of a tree
And then you can boat it to the mountains or sea,
For the thought has arrived with considerable zest
To combine a vacation with leisure and rest.
When a fellow can eat a bit, stay off his feet a bit,
Sleep all he wants to--and dress as he will.
Hear, then, Diogenes, hear, then, my plaintive wheeze:
Leave me your Tub, please--and send in the breeze.

If the Athletics, as reported or rumored, will lose $100,000 this season, how much will the Kansas City Feds clear? Or how many pieces of eight would you surrender for 80 per cent of their profits?

THE FED RAID.
The reported raid of the Feds upon Johnson, Cobb and others recalls a lingering memory of our childhood.
We had a keen interest one day in a certain slice of pie. We had already figured out what our share would be, but when company drifted in and we discovered this slice was to be cut three ways we lost all further interest in it and proceeded to direct our gastronomic endeavor along other lines of food--not quite so palatable perhaps, but at least subject to no such division.

Packy McFarland quit the prize ring for $200,000. We'd almost quit the newspaper business for that. Any tempters around?
At this date a year ago America never had a chance in the polo game. Her Big Four were demoralized and all hope had flown. Now England's chance is supposed to be extremely thin. Which is why we are getting set for an untimely shock and for an ally when the upset arrives.
When my pitchers get going good," remarked Manager Mack. Does neither heart nor soul linger in that unyielding breast?

C. S'ING THE PENNANT.
It may be that Griff is making an attempt to Christian Science the pennant. If thinking a thing and believing a thing hard enough will produce the desired results he should certainly land.
The Old Fox is fairly positive that he has the best club in the league. "One not quite so powerful as Mack's," he admits, "but a better-balanced club and a much better defensive one. And we've improved up there at bat, too," says the Senatorial pilot. "Enough to raise the deuce on this coming western trip, where I believe we'll make a better showing than the Athletics."

The fact that Herzog held the Reds well up in May is little. The fact that he put them a trifle higher by June backs a miracle off the board.
When Mr. William de Morgan wrote: "It never can happen again," he must have been pondering over the Redland episode of 1914. The only wonder is that it ever happened in the first place, considering the fact that Herzog started with material much weaker than that under Tinker's rule--the worst looking material, in fact, that any club had on display in either league.

STILL MORE OF IT.
John McGraw and Fred Clarke will have to go against either Frank Baker or Walter Johnson.
But at that they have an edge on Fielding Yost, who has to go up against both Brickley and Mahan without the semblance of a choice.

LUCKY BILL.
Now doth the critic spend his days
Swearing that Francis Bacon wrote
The Bulk of Mr. Shakespeare's plays--
That Bill was not the acting poet;
And, working in, around, about,
With some points fresh and other witty,
Goes on to prove beyond a doubt
The Bard of Avon was not guilty.
O would that some far day from here
When I am 'dust to dust returned,'
When my selections, far and near,
Are panned and sneered at, knocked and spurned;
O would that it might thusly be
When they are handing me the cuff,
That some one will arise for me
And prove I did not write the stuff.

Winning the golf championship of France is something like one of Hoke's old records--"setting the half-mile mark over a clay track in a brown buggy attached to a bay horse with one white hoof."

24-ON, Ga., June 5.--Denial was made Thursday by President W. Young of the Macon club, as to the report from Savannah, that Outfielder Timon Bowden, of the Macon club, had been sold to the Savannah Monday of this week, three big league scouts asked for options on Bowden at prices ranging from $10,000 to $15,000, said Mr. Young, "but all were declined. Bowden has not been sold, nor has any club even so much as an option."

Players' Frat Wants Southern Leaguers in Fold

President Dave Fultz Now on Trip to Cities in the Circuit to Discuss Matter--Says All of Larger Minor Leagues Will Join

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 5.--Dave Fultz, the president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, was in Memphis Thursday and left last night for Nashville.
His visit was for the purpose of taking the Southern league players as a body into the organization.
The players of the two clubs now playing here--Memphis and Montgomery--welcomed the proposition for them to come into the fraternity with enthusiasm and it is a certainty that the players of the Southern league will come into the organization unanimously.
Fultz was in Chattanooga Wednesday and the players of the Chattanooga and Birmingham clubs expressed their willingness to join.

With the players of the International and American association and with the Southern players sure to join, all of the players of the larger minor organizations will be members with the exception of the Pacific Coast league and the Western league, and Fultz expects the players of these two leagues to soon come into the fold.
Fultz was enthusiastic over the prospect of the fraternity and stated that disputes between players and club owners would eventually be settled by a committee representing the players and the one representing the national association.

Fultz's activities in the Southern league have met with good results and within the next two days when he will visit Nashville and Atlanta, he will have the plauds of every player in the Southern league who are not already members of the fraternity to join.

Fultz stated that there was no disposition on the part of the fraternity to discriminate against players of the Federal league and that he thought that players of that league would eventually become members, although at the present time they had signified no intention of joining.
